PRIMARY AND PENSION LAWS

Are Upheld By Kentucky Court Of Appeals.

DECISIONS ON BIG QUESTIONS

Rendered On the Final Day of Spring Term—Matter Plainly Stated.

WOMEN VOTING IS UNDECIDED

Frankfort, Ky., June 20.—The Appellate Court this morning upheld the Eaton-Thompson State Primary law and the Confederate Pension law.

In upholding the primary law the court, in an opinion by Judge Settle, dismissed the appeals of Charles I. Gardner, and George Ewald against County Clerk Ray, of Jefferson county, and affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of W. S. Tyler and Carl J. Johnson against Ray.

The court bases its action in dismissing the Gardner and Ewald appeal on the action in the Robinson Circuit Court, in which the lower court sustains the clerk in his refusal to place the names of the candidates on the ballot, because their petitions omitted to state that they "affiliated with the Republican party and supported its nominees at the last regular election."

Gardner and Ewald both registered as Democrats, claiming they had supported the Progressive ticket, and sought to have their names placed on the ballots.

The opinion in conclusion says: "It is to be remarked that the object of the present primary election law is to purify the politics of the State by preventing frauds and wrongdoings in making nominations, and it will be to the interest of political parties and the welfare of the citizens of the State to effectuate the salutary purposes designed by its enactment.

"The integrity of all party nominations should be so manifest as to put them above being called into question.

"That the act is in some respects in need of amendment a cursory reading of it will demonstrate, but it cannot fairly be said of any of its provisions with respect to the qualifications it requires of those who would participate in or be nominated at the elections held thereunder, that they are unreasonable or onerous to the provisions of the State's Constitution.

"The Court holds that the clerk properly rejected the petition because of its insufficiency in that the applicant failed to state that he had affiliated with the party from which he sought nomination at the last regular election."

Johnson and Tyler, with Charles J. Groves, Theodore H. Diehl, W. I. Taylor, A. R. Bierbaum and Jacob Emmetsberger, Jr., who signed the petition of Ewald and Gardner, filed suit against Clerk Ray to compel him to place the names of Ewald and Gardner on the ballots and in each case the defendant demurred.

The court holds that the latter suits involve the same question as those of Ewald and Gardner and sustains the clerk in his refusal to accept the petitions.

The decision sustaining the Confederate pension act was handed down by Chief Justice Hobson, who affirmed the decision of the Franklin Circuit Court in the case of Henry M. Bosworth, Auditor, against James M. Harp. Judge Lassing dissented.

Harp, under the provision of the statute, presented his voucher, properly executed, but the Auditor refused to issue a warrant for it, and suit for a mandamus was filed. The court holds that Confederate soldiers rendered a public service to the State of Kentucky, and that the sole contention in this case is whether they did render such public service. The contention of the Auditor was that it was unconstitutional in that the act "grants to indigent Confederate soldiers exclusive separate privileges not granted to other indigent persons."

The court holds that "when the persons shall, by heroic deeds, inventive genius, or great mental endowments and a life of public virtue become, in the judgment of the Legislature, a public benefactor, separate emoluments may be allowed." That the Legislature has the power in a proper case to grant pensions for public service, the opinion says, must now be admitted. The opinion states that the doctrine of State's rights was not issue in the Civil war, and that those who maintained the right of State sovereignty went to the Confederate army, and in that they rendered public service to their State. It says:

"The Kentucky soldiers in the Confederate army served faithfully their State, the sovereign to whom they owed their first allegiance, and that sovereign may, with equal propriety, honor their self-sacrifice, gallantry and patriotism by protecting them in their old age from want."

The question whether women may vote for county school superintendent in the August primary and general election is up to precinct election officers to decide.

The Court of Appeals decided that the Fayette Circuit Court, under the primary act, had final jurisdiction when it granted a writ of mandamus to Mrs. Bullock to compel County Clerk Theo. Lewis to place her name on the ballot for a candidate for the nomination for county superintendent.

Most of the signers of her petition were women and the Circuit Court held that they have a right to vote for County Superintendent in the primary.

The appeal of the County Clerk was dismissed, the court "regretting that the question cannot be definitely settled in this case."

SHE FELL DEAD AFTER DANCING FOUR HOURS

New York, June 22.—Mrs. Edna Wagner, 21 years old, of Brooklyn, died early to-day of an acute attack of heart disease brought on by dancing the Tango, Turkey Trot and One-Step for four consecutive hours at the marathon dance given by the Ridgewood Block Party Association to-night.

More than 1,000 couples started in the annual "block party" dance, which is held on the asphalt pavement, and only five couples, including Richard Wagner and his wife, were left at the end of more than four hours consecutive dancing. The husband was showing signs of fatigue, but Mrs. Wagner was anxious to win the silver trophy offered for the winning couple, as well as to outdance several of her friends.

Just as Wagner was about to drop out the band struck a lively "rag," and up and down the block the Wagners "trotted" with increased enthusiasm until suddenly Mrs. Wagner fell from her husband's arms to the sidewalk.

She was rushed to her home and a physician summoned, but she died a short time later.

Mrs. Mary Smith Dead.

Mrs. Mary Smith, of near Pleasant Ridge, died at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning at the home of her brother, Perry Therpe. She was twenty-one years old and had lived for a number of years near Utica, moving to Pleasant Ridge about four months ago. Tuberculosis was the cause of her death.

Correspondents and all who send in articles for The Herald will please sign their real names at the bottom, each time—not for publication, but that we may keep track of our contributors.

CHILDREN'S HOME TO BE TAKEN OVER BY STATE

After Recent Investigations—Governor To Appoint State Board.

The Louisville Courier-Journal of Friday says:

The property of the Kentucky Children's Home Society at 1036 Baxter avenue will be placed in the name of the State of Kentucky, and the Governor will have the power to appoint ten members of the State Board of Managers out of a total of thirty, and five members of the Executive Committee of fifteen. This is the result of the recent conference between Judge R. W. Bingham, Judge Randolph Blain, the Rev. E. L. Powell and Supt. George L. Selton and Gov. McCreary, in regard to the future of the institution.

The visiting delegation gladly acceded to the Governor's request for conveyance of the property to the State with the stipulation that it remain in the State's name as long as the Society continues to act in its present capacity. The other request of the Governor, that he have power to appoint members of the Board of Managers and Executive Committee, will necessitate a change in the charter and this will be given attention at the meeting of the Society in July.

The five members of the Executive Committee are to be chosen from the ten men appointed on the Board of Managers and, according to the agreement, they must live in Louisville.

The Kentucky Children's Home Society is an institution devoted to the uplift of dependent children. It is partially maintained by the State, and other funds are secured through donations from public-spirited citizens. Many prominent churchmen and men of public life are identified with the institution. Members of the Society who pay amounts ranging from $5 to $100 for the upkeep of the Home live in all parts of Kentucky, the greater portion residing in Louisville. Until the last Legislature raised the annual appropriation of the State to $50,000, the institution was maintained principally by private donations. The institution has been in existence for fifteen years, and is one of the first established in the South.

THE WEBB LAW DEFINED BY ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Washington, June 21.—The Webb law, forbidding interstate shipments of liquor into "dry" States, is not a criminal statute and violations of it cannot be prosecuted in United States Courts.

Attorney-General McReynolds so declared in instructions sent to-day to every United States Attorney in the country.

"Its purpose," said the Attorney-General, "is to permit State laws to operate in respect to intoxicating liquors moving in interstate commerce."

The law simply deprives shippers of any privileges they might claim on the ground of interstate commerce.

This is the first time the Department of Justice has construed the Webb law, which was declared unconstitutional by former President Taft and former Attorney-General Wickersham. President Taft vetoed the bill on the ground that it violated the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution by delegating the regulation of interstate commerce to the States. The bill was passed over his veto.

GIRL WORKERS BURNED TO DEATH BY VILLAGERS

St. Petersburg, June 21.—Eighty girls were burned to death to-day by villagers enraged at the importation of cheap girl labor to work on a sugar estate in the District of Pinarin, in the Province of Pinar, Southern Russia.

The excited villagers first securely fastened all the means of exit from a wooden barn in which the girls were housed.

They then set fire to the building while the inmates were asleep, and all were burned to death without a chance to escape.

June 9th was the coldest June day in 43 years and the 16th was the hottest June day in 21 years. All this happened in one week.

PLACES CROSS ON TOP OF MOUNT MCKINLEY

Highest Point of Continent Is Reached—Elevation Is 20,500 Feet.

Fairbanks, Alaska, June 20.—The summit of the highest mountain on the continent, the south peak of Mt. McKinley, was reached for the first time, June 7, when Archdeacon Hudson Stuck, Episcopal Missionary for Alaska, accompanied by Robert G. Tatum, Harry P. Karstens and Walter Harper, accomplished the hazardous feat.

News of the success of the expedition was received to-day by a messenger sent by Dr. Stuck. Archdeacon Stuck expects to return to Fairbanks in August and will go to New York in October as delegate for Alaska to the General Convention of the Episcopal Church.

Dr. Stuck and his assistants erected a six-foot cross on the summit of the great mountain. Observations made with the mercurial barometer indicate the height of the mountain is 20,500 feet. Dr. Stuck said this could be checked by comparing the reading of his barometer with the records taken at Ft. Gibbon, the same date.

The expedition which left Fairbanks March 13, expected to reach the summit of Mount McKinley early in May, but was delayed three weeks cutting a passage three miles long through ice thrown across the ridge by an earthquake last summer.

The party found much evidence of seismic disturbance on the upper ridges. The upper basin shows evidence of a violent upheaval and the ridges are badly shattered, but the summits are not marred.

Archdeacon Stuck confirmed the ascent of the North Peak by Thomas Lloyd and three companions in 1910, being able, with field glasses, to see the flagstaff erected by the Lloyd party.

Dr. Stuck said he reached the summit on a clear day when it was possible to read all the angles of the mountain and other prominent points and make certain that the peak was the highest of all.

Last year Prof. Herschel Parker, of Brooklyn, and Belmore Brown, of Tacoma, who had previously failed in two attempts to climb the mountain, went over the route followed by the Lloyd expedition and were within 200 feet of the summit when they were driven back by a furious blizzard.

A TOTAL OF 17 HAVE BEEN ELECTROCUTED

Eddyville, Ky., June 20.—Tom Martin and Tom Lawson, negroes, paid the death penalty this morning for the murder of Gardin Ingram, a young white man, at Waddy, in Shelby county, last December.

Martin was taken from the death cell to the electric chair at the Western prison at 2:30 o'clock, and a half hour later Lawson was electrocuted.

There was not a hitch in the electrocution. Both men met their death without flinching.

Seventeen electrocutions have now taken place in the prison here, and another man, Geo. Mays, charged with a murder in Pulaski county, will be executed next Friday.

MILLIONAIRE HAGGIN TO START A GENERAL STORE

Lexington, Ky., June 21.—J. B. Haggin, the New York millionaire, who owns Elmendorf stock farm, near this city, will, it was reported to-day, establish a general store for the convenience of the 700 men who are employed on the place and their families, purchasing goods of an assured quality and at the lowest practical prices. The store, it is understood, will be located in the new five-story building which Mr. Haggin is constructing in North Limestone street, and which, in addition to the store, will be used as a depot and salesroom for the products of the Elmendorf dairy and other products from the farm. More than 700 men are employed at Elmendorf, some 300 of whom are boarded there. With nearly all of them the Elmendorf management has to keep accounts, frequently giving orders on the stores in the city for purchases they desire to make in advance of their wages. It has therefore been decided, it is said, that it would simplify the farm accounts and also be of great value in every way to the employees for the management to keep lines of goods such as the employees wish to buy, and let them have them at a nominal profit. The Elmendorf estate comprises about 10,000 acres. It has its own water works, electric light and power plant, bakery, mills, interurban cars, grain elevators, physician, veterinary surgeon, hospital, school, building and similar institutions.

MR. W. T. HUNTER DEAD AT PLEASANT RIDGE

Mr. W. T. Hunter died at the home of his son, Mr. Henry Hunter, at Pleasant Ridge, Ky., last Friday afternoon, of heart trouble. He had been ill in bed several days, but his death was rather sudden. He had only recently gone to Arizona on a business mission, but the climate did not agree with him and he returned to his old home.

Mr. Hunter was 52 years old at the time of his death and he leaves a record as a most excellent citizen. His wife died a number of years ago. He leaves three sons and one daughter—Messrs. Randall, Henry and Karl Hunter and Mrs. Hubert Williams, the latter residing at Miami, Arizona. His funeral was preached at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, of which he was a member, Saturday afternoon by Rev. A. B. Gardner, the services being concluded at Pleasant Ridge cemetery by Rev. J. A. Bennett, at 4 p. m.

An unfortunate occurrence added sorrow to the death and burial of Mr. Hunter. His mother, who is 82 years old, resides at Owensboro, and undertook the trip to the funeral of her son in a buggy with a driver. On the way the team took fright at a road roller and ran away. Mrs. Hunter was thrown out and three of her ribs were broken in the fall. She was badly hurt and not being well at the time, she has grown much worse since. She suffers from a bronchial trouble, and not being able to cough up the phlegm in her throat on account of her broken ribs, she is in a serious condition. At last account she was hardly expected to recover.

FATHER OF CHILD BURNED TO DEATH GOES INSANE

Frankfort, Ky., June 21.—Grief over the death of his 2-year-old namesake and son, who was burned to death two months ago in a horrible manner, drove Jesse Johnson insane. An inquest of lunacy was held before County Judge Liberty to-day and Johnson was committed to the Eastern State Hospital.

Johnson is a former, 34 years old, and has a wife and three children. Worry over her husband's condition has brought Mrs. Johnson to the verge of a nervous breakdown.

Two months ago Johnson's children were playing together in their home and one gave the baby Jesse Paul, 2 years old, a lighted candle. The other children went out of the room and left him and the candle. No outcry was heard, but when Johnson himself entered the room some time afterward he found the baby a mass of charred flesh, lying on the floor with the corpse burned around it.

From that time Johnson lost his appetite and could not sleep. He neglected his work and spent the days and nights moaning and weeping. About two weeks ago his relatives observed signs of mental decline and then he sustained a stroke of paralysis.

COURTHOUSE ROOF WAS SELECTED BY FLOPPY

Lawrenceburg, Ind., June 21.—Thomas Jefferson Wheeler, a merchant and Miss Sadie May Baldock the young daughter of George W. Baldock, a tobacco raiser of Cass county, Ky., eloped from their home and coming to this city, obtained a marriage license.

They were married on the tower on the roof of the courthouse by the Rev. Jacob H. Sipe, a Methodist minister, who is a member of the Dearborn County Board of Review now in session.

Mr. Baldock objected to his daughter's marriage on account of her youth, and she was locked in her room, but she escaped from a second story window with a rope furnished by her younger brother.

Mr. Ben. F. Gray, who had been visiting his son and daughter, Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Brown, since Friday, returned home yesterday.

PRESIDENT MAY PROCLAIM RATES

Of Special Nature, Anent Tariff Schedule.

NO DISCRIMINATION ALLOWED

By Foreign Countries Against United States—Articles Limited.

ACCEDE TO FOREIGN NATIONS

Washington, June 21.—An Underwood tariff bill amendment adopted to-day by the majority of the Senate finance committee gives the President authority to suspend certain tariff rates in the proposed law and to proclaim special rates against nations that discriminate against products of the United States. It was appended to the clause giving the President authority to negotiate reciprocity agreements.

In substance the amendment provides that when any nation discriminates against the products of the United States or imposes restrictions on United States exports or does not, in the opinion of the President, reciprocate in trade relations, the President may suspend certain rates and put other rates in effect.

Only specified articles and rates, it is understood, are to be included under this amendment. On some items the penalty would be a double rate, while on sugars, the rate would be only a fraction of a cent per pound.

The amendment is subject to ratification of the Democratic Senatorial caucuses, which will begin work on the bill to-morrow.

Reopening consideration of the print paper schedule, the committee struck out its amendment adding the countervailing provisions of the Canadian reciprocity law. As the bill goes to caucus the Underwood provision remains undisturbed, print paper valued at not more than two and one-half cents a pound going on the unrestricted free list.

The majority members stripped the administrative provisions of the Underwood bill of many of its features, including the clause that gave American agents the right to examine foreigners' books in cases of disputed import valuations. They also struck out the provision to give the Secretary of the Treasury power to determine the existence or nonexistence of a foreign market, the anti-dumping clause and the 5 per cent. tariff discount of imports in American vessels.

Thus all the provisions which aroused protests from foreign nations were stricken out of the bill. The committee inserted an amendment providing for a commission to be composed of members of the Senate Finance and the House Ways and Means committees to make a thorough study of the whole tariff administration question and report recommendations. In addition the committee made bananas dutiable at five cents a bunch and repealed an act that exempted brandies used in fortifying wines from the full internal revenue tax of $1.10 a gallon.

Notice to Water Users.

Persons who have hydrants must not attach hose and leave water running over night, and they are not allowed to use same to water gardens. We want everybody to have plenty of water, and it is not fair to those living at end or near end of pipe line to be shut off from the water by the constant waste between them and the tank. Unless persons attend to their hydrants and keep them closed over night, we shall be compelled to shut water off wherever this is practiced.

Nashville, Tenn., June 21.—The one million dollar gift of Andrew Carnegie to Vanderbilt university was voted today at a called meeting of the college of bishops of the Methodist church, South. Resolutions were adopted criticizing the board of trustees of the university for accepting it. It was declared that the board exceeded its authority and the acceptance constituted a breach of trust.

FERCE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG

Occurred Fifty Years Ago
Next Tuesday.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT OF FIGHT
Which Indirectly Determined
the Final Outcome of the War.

A LOVE LETTER FIGURED IN IT

It will be fifty years on July 1 (next Tuesday) since the Battle of Gettysburg began, and the anniversary is celebrated in the July American Magazine with an extraordinary illustrated story of the struggle by Edgar Allen Forbes. The battle lasted three days and, as everybody will recall, General Pickett made his famous charge toward the end of the third day. This charge concluded the battle and indirectly determined the outcome of the war. The following extract from the article, which is herewith reprinted through the courtesy of the American Magazine, gives a dramatic picture of Pickett's charge, and of the final events leading up to the great catastrophe that overtook the Confederacy. At this point in the narrative Pickett is just leaving Longstreet to go into battle.

"There was one touch of humanity in the parting between Pickett and Longstreet that has just come to light after fifty years. It humanizes the hero of that daring charge to know that he was much in love. As Pickett turned to go, he placed in Longstreet's hands a letter addressed to a brown-eyed Virginia girl who yet lives. And this was the postscript which he had written in the brief interval between cannonade and the charge:

"Now, my darling, I go; but remember always that I love you with all my heart and soul, with every fiber of my being; that now and forever I am yours—yours, my beloved. It is almost three o'clock.

My soul reaches out to yours—my prayers."

"Now the smoke of guns lifts like a great curtain, and discloses to the eyes of the whole Army of the Potomac the sublimest spectacle of the Civil War.

"And how pitifully cruel it was! The long gray line had to cover almost a mile of open ground before it could use its guns, but it was within the range of the replenished Union batteries from the start.

"The Union gunners began on it with solid shot; as the silent line drew nearer, they changed to bursting shell and shrapnel. The Virginians fell like sheaves before the fields, but the ranks silently close. About midway the line is halted and dressed under fire. Then it moves slowly forward in the face of a storm of canister that literally mows great sections to the ground. But the shattered brigades preserve their alignment, oblique to the left, and sweep against the stone wall from which now come the cruel volleys of the infantry.

"The high-water mark of the charge was reached by Armistead's brigade of Virginians. With his cap upon the point of his sword to guide his men, like the helmet of Navarre, he pressed far beyond the fence, rushed the batteries, and fell dying beside the guns that he had taken. So desperate was the fighting here that twenty Confederate flags were captured within a space not a hundred yards square.

"Pickett's division lost 2,888 men killed and wounded, of whom 1,191 were from Armistead's brigade alone. The death which spared not his three brigadiers passed over the conspicuous leader with his long black hair, and the voice that had sent the men across the field of blood now gave the command to fall back. And just at that hour, far away to the southward, Grant and Pemberton were standing together under a tree, arranging the details of the surrender of Vicksburg.

"Of all the descriptions of Pickett's great charge, that of the greatest human interest is the latest—his letter to the Virginian girl who later became his wife:

"You never saw anything like it. They moved across that field of death as a battalion marches forward in line of battle upon drill, each commander in front of his command, leading and cheering on his men. Two lines of the enemy's infantry were driven back; two lines of guns were taken—and no support came.

"Ah, if I had only had my other two brigades, a different story would have been flashed to the world. . . . Seven of my Colonels were killed and one was mortally wounded. Nine of my Lieutenant-Colonels were wounded and three Lieutenant-Colonels were killed. Only one field officer of my whole command, Colonel Cabell, was unhurt, and the loss of my company officers was in proportion."

"As the tumult and the shouting died, the eye turns away from Pickett and the bloody field and seeks the Chieftain who has lost. From an eminence overlooking the heroic battleground, the son of 'Light Horse Harry' Lee has seen the hopes of the Southland perish. With uncovered head he rides forward to meet Pickett, who comes slowly up the slope with the pitiful remnants of his broken legion, the tears washing the grime of battle from his cheeks. Lee's face is calm and gives no hint of the emotions within his breast. 'It was all my fault,' he says. 'Now help me to save that which remains.'

"At midnight a cavalry officer in charge of the rough wagons that were gathering up the mangled men waited at the General's tent. At last the gray outline of 'Traveler' appeared in the dim moonlight, and Lee wearily dismounted. 'This has been a sad day, General,' he said, and then leaned against his horse in utter exhaustion, seemingly unmindful of the other's presence.

"You are much fatigued, General," said the cavalry officer.

"Oh, it's too bad! It's too bad!" he exclaimed. Then he gave the last command of the day—and it concerned the wounded men who had fought in vain and whose moans were the Miserere of the Lost Cause.

"The officer went to his harrowing task, and 'Traveler' was led away by an orderly. Then the Captain of the Confederacy, with his soul exceeding sorrowful, drew back the flaps of his tent and entered the valley of his Ithacaean alone.

"And he went forward a little, and fell on his face . . ."

IN BEHALF OF THE NEW ASSOCIATION

Tobacco Growers Recently Organized

TO TAKE IN OTHER SOCIETIES

Thinks Consolidation Of Aim
and Effort the Great Desideratum.

DISTRICT MEETINGS JULY 5

A prominent farmer of Webster county, writing to Mr. J. N. Banks, editor of the Tobacco Association department of the Henderson Gleaner, says:

"Editor Banks:—I hear some objection to the constitution and by-laws indorsed at the Madisonville meeting and recommended to tobacco growers of Kentucky as the basis upon which it is expected to consolidate the numerous tobacco associations. Of course there will be objections because of some things that are not in it. No one expected it possible to formulate plans and rules that would suit every one.

No society, State or nation has ever adopted a code of laws that were entirely satisfactory to all. The plan of salvation as devised by the divine Father and revealed in the life and teachings of the Lord Jesus Christ does not meet the approval of all mankind.

The Constitution and by-laws of the United States under which we have become one among the most intelligent and prosperous nations of the world does not suit all our people in every detail, and representatives meet every two years to change and amend the laws of Kentucky. It seems folly to suppose that we tobacco growers should be able to prepare a code so perfect that no one can find objections.

It was the purpose of the Madisonville meeting to formulate a constitution and by-laws to govern a new association and submit it to the tobacco growers of Kentucky for their approval to become effective when ratified by two-thirds of the members of the associations desiring to consolidate.

There were present and participating in that meeting about 300 representative farmers, members of the Stemming District Tobacco association, the Green River, the Dark Tobacco Protective and quite a number of the Equity and Farmers' Union associations. From these were selected about twenty as a committee whose report represents the best methods as learned by study and experience in co-operative work among tobacco growers during the last eight years.

It opens the way for tobacco growers to get together. It guarantees protection by the laws of Kentucky. It provides a system of marketing tobacco along well established business lines. It protects members from possible fraud by requiring officials to give sufficient bond. It adopts the initiative and referendum and provides for recall. It insures democratic rule by a majority vote. It guards the right of every member, giving him a voice in transaction of all business through his magisterial district committeeman. It limits the amount of expenses within reasonable bounds. It provides an easy way to alter or amend our laws. It insures a prorata distribution of proceeds of all sales of tobacco, giving to every member his just share whether his individual crop is sold or not, and takes care of all unsold tobacco until such time as it can be sold at a fair price. In short, it enables us to protect each other.

It is now up to the officials of every tobacco association or pool in Kentucky to put the question fairly and squarely before their members and it is up to us tobacco growers to say whether we will get together in one body with one selling head and secure a fair price for our tobacco, or remain in separate associations fighting each other, thereby enabling the buyer to get our tobacco at less than cost of production. Everybody agrees that we should get together and I ask tobacco growers to spot every man who opposes consolidation and ascertain whether or not he really desires to promote the interests of tobacco growers.

The executive committee of the Stemming District Association has set the first Saturday in July as the day to hold magisterial district meetings to determine whether or not we are in favor of consolidation.

I hope every member can attend this meeting in his district and will go on record in favor of getting together. Please bear in mind this fact—unless as many as two-thirds vote in favor of consolidation, the Stemming District Association will remain as it is now. No change will be made.

I hope the officials of every association or pool in Kentucky will act promptly and put the matter before their members and should any official be careless or indifferent I hope influential farmers will take the matter up and insist that tobacco growers be given an opportunity to say whether or not we will get together.

A failure to get a majority of the dark tobacco growers together this year will mean a loss of from one to two dollars per hundred pounds on all dark tobacco grown in Kentucky this year, which will amount to not less than three million dollars. We can not afford to be careless or indifferent.

GOING TO EARN HER OWN LIVING

Says Evelyn Nesbit Thaw
Of Her Future.

DELIVERS A SENSIBLE TALK

Does Not Excuse Herself For
the Part She Played In the Past.

IS NOT A VICTIM OF PASSION

London, June 20.—Despite the protests of an important section of the English public and several London newspapers, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw soon will appear on the British stage. She has a contract for a season in vaudeville in London at $5,000 per week.

Mrs. Thaw doesn't like it because so many people have protested against her appearance here. She says she is only trying to earn her living. In a recent interview with a representative of the London Daily Sketch she said in part:

"As to my plans, I am going to earn my living. That is all. You might say I left the stage to better myself and I am returning to the stage to better myself. The Daily Sketch attacked me because I thought I wanted to make capital out of my association with a tragedy. If you only knew how little I want to be associated with the past! I never excuse myself for the part I played. You would not expect me or other women to excuse themselves because in their childhood they were blown up with nitroglycerin. A monk seeking the philosopher's stone, found gunpowder to his cost. Thousands of women seeking the philosopher's stone that would change their world have discovered that high explosives are dangerous.

"Some well-meaning person has described me as a victim of passion. I suppose passion has its victims, but 'victim' is a word I loathe. As love is the steam of life that works the machinery of the world, so passion is a sure indication of defective capacity.

"I do not complain that I was not told things when I was a child. I thank God my childhood was free from all stress. I was supremely happy. I was fifteen years old when I went on the stage and I was a child in thought and experience.

"Men used to come along and take me out—men of all ages—to supper and dinner. It was the finest kind of fun. I had two passions, one for chocolates and one for mechanical toys, and I suppose for two years I was the greatest joke in New York.

"I do not sit in judgment and say these men were evil; it is not for me to judge them. If I regretted my life I should regret much happiness. I don't want to tell you about my own troubles. I can say only this, that I think big sorrows give one a sense of humor. They certainly bring an appreciation of exactly what is happening around us.

"The first thing I did when the Thaw trial was over was to gather from all over the world accounts of similar trials in which women had figured. I settled myself down to read steadily through all the accounts of these trials with one object, that was to discover what had become of the woman. And I found that of all those women who had gone out, some sank from the sheer weight of humiliation and some found snatches of happiness in excesses—some drank, some took drugs, but they all went down, down, down. That was the lesson I learned from reading these trials and when I learned it I said:

"Evelyn Thaw, there must be another way, and all that these women did I determined not to do. I have no bad habits. I have no habits which have a weakening tendency upon my will. I wanted to know all that was worst. And the woman who can say, 'I know the worst,' has her feet upon the first rung of the ladder which leads to happiness.

"It is a pretty senseless thing to say what you would do if you had your life to live over again. To sit on the roof and have misgivings about the foundations does not make for happiness. If I were to be asked if I had the choice whether I should be born beautiful and wicked or plain and good, I don't think I should be born at all.

"As to Mr. Harry Thaw, I have nothing to say. I am satisfied that at moments he was quite mad. I have nothing but sorrow for him."

NEW LIQUOR DECISION CAUSES MUCH DOUBT

Leaves Carriers To Determine Whether Shipment Is To Be Used Legally.

Frankfort, Ky., June 21.—Conjectures as to the effect of the Court of Appeals' recent decision on the shipment of liquor into Kentucky are rife, after the contents of the opinion have been scanned by legal eyes. Attorneys for the railroads and express companies especially are interested, as the attorneys for the Adams Express Company, arguing the case from Whitley before the Court of Appeals, said their company was harassed on the one hand by local officials, who threatened indictment if it carried liquor into "dry" territory and threatened with suits by the liquor dealers if it refused.

The position of the court is generally approved as legally sound; but whether it leaves the common carriers in any better position than before is questioned. It makes the question of whether the carrier is violating the law, depend upon whether the consignee intends to put it to legal or illegal use. If he intends to use it for his personal enjoyment the common carriers may deliver the liquor to him without danger, providing it is shipped from a point outside the State; but are guilty of a breach of the law if it is shipped from any place in Kentucky. The decision is generally regarded as putting it to the carriers to determine whether the consignee is going to use the consignment lawfully for his own use or engage in "bootlegging," and leaving it as a question of fact in each case for the jury to decide whether the law has been violated by the carrier or not.

Best Laxative for the Aged.
Old men and women feel the need of a laxative more than young folks, but it must be safe and harmless and one which will not cause pain. Dr. King's New Life Pills are especially good for the aged, for they act promptly and easily. Price 25c. Recommended by James H. Williams. (Advertisement.)

Generous.
A farmer boy and his best girl were seated in a buggy one evening in town watching the people pass. Near by was a popcorn vender's stand.

Presently the lady remarked: "My, that popcorn smells good!" "That's right," said the gallant. "I'll drive up a little closer so you can smell it better."

Appearances.
"John," said Mrs. Crosslots, "we'll have to have a lot of new furniture."

"But you surely don't want to buy it now. We are going to move on the first of the month."

"That's just it. We couldn't think of having this shabby old outfit stood out on the sidewalk for the neighbors to inspect."—[Washington Star.]

PENILESS, CUTS OWN THROAT

Was a Famous War Correspondent and Made a Fine Record.

LECTURE TOUR WAS FAILURE

The New York World says: Because his lecture tour of the United States and Canada had not proved a success, and he was without funds and unable even to pay his hotel bill, Angus Hamilton, F. R. G. S., of London, war correspondent and author, took his own life in his apartments at the Hotel St. Louis, No. 34 West Thirty-second street, yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor.

On a table was a jewel box with this note attached: "Please return to Mrs. Angus Hamilton, 13 Catherine street, Buckingham Gate, London, S. W." Another package containing manuscripts was addressed to "Mr. Parsons, to be called for."

Hamilton went to the St. Louis three weeks ago from the Astor, where he had been staying. He came to New York February 13 from London to lecture on the Bulgarian war and opened his tour at Carnegie Hall on February 19, Oscar Straus introducing him to his audience. Afterward he lectured in Brooklyn and Boston. But American audiences did not appear to be interested after the war closed.

He was born in London, the son of Capt. John Angus Lushington Hamilton of the Second West India Regiment. His mother afterward became the wife of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero. In 1896 he married Helen Frances, the youngest daughter of the late George Stiles Kelly. He attended Cheltenham College and schools in Germany and France. He went to the front during the Boer war as a correspondent and reported the siege of Mafeking. He was a correspondent in China in the Boxer crisis in 1902, reported the Somaliland troubles in 1904, the Balkan-Macedonian troubles in the same year, the Russo-Japanese war in 1904-5, and was on the field in nearly every important clash of arms anywhere in the world in the years following up to 1912, when he went to Eastern Europe as war correspondent for the Central News Agency of London in the Balkan war.

Hamilton was taken prisoner in front of Chatalja and was nearly executed as a Turkish spy, when he was able to identify himself and was saved.

He was a good writer, an interesting talker, and had gone successfully through all sorts of hardships and adventures. He had many medals for brave conduct and in 1904 was commanded to appear at Buckingham Palace for a private audience with King Edward. He was thirty-five years old.

OUR MOST VALUABLE CITIZEN—WHO IS HE?

The independent, ordinarily a discreet and unobtrusive publication, which would never think of appearing in a journalistic skirt, has been indulging in a reckless referendum to determine which of the 100,000,000 of our citizens is the most valuable. Limiting those of secondary importance, to nine. Ten thousand names were sent in and Thomas A. Edison, in spite of the fact that he is responsible for the phonograph, is the Abner Ben Adhem of the bunch, with Theodore Roosevelt a poor fourth. Andrew Carnegie is third. An odd feature of this ridiculous business is that John H. Patterson, of cash register and Sherman law fame, made a respectable run, although he did not get in the money. The very obvious answer to this nonsense is that the type of person who is willing to make out a list of our 10 most valuable citizens is one whose opinion is without the slightest value per se, and is only possibly of being right is lodged in the laws of chance. Such a list, to be exact, should be headed "Our Most Advertised 'Citizen,'" for that in reality is what it amounts to. Certain lines of achievement, like ball playing, are susceptible to mathematical demonstration of efficiency, but to take the vague term "valuable" and try to figure a batting average out of it is a fool's task. Any such comparative estimate is made on personal enthusiasm bred out of the news columns or the Sunday supplements of the newspapers and is just as valuable as a popular vote on the proper way to have one's hair cut. There are, strange to relate, things that the majority cannot settle.—[Seattle Post-Intelligencer.]

LOS ANGELES ELECTS SOCIALIST AS MAYOR

Also City Councilman Of Same
Party—"Big Business"
Suffers Defeat.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20.—After staggering along for many years under the burden of a "Big Business" administration which refused the common everyday worker a square deal, this city, the Pacific Coast stronghold of the money clique, has tossed into the discard the Big Business administration and elected Fred C. Wheeler, a Socialist, as a Councilman, and Police Judge H. H. Rose as Mayor.

Judge Rose had no newspaper support, while his opponent, John Shunk, was the candidate of most of the newspapers; endorsed by a municipal conference of "Big Business" adherents, and was generally conceded to be the next Mayor of the Angel City.

The keynote of the campaign was "save the city from the Socialists," but if it has been "saved," it is not particularly evident at present, as enough independent councilman candidates were elected to make it decidedly improbable that "Big Business" will get everything it wants in the future by merely asking for it.

When the final votes were counted, Rose was elected, and for the first time in the history of Los Angeles, the Socialists had one of their number, Fred C. Wheeler, a member of the City Council.

With Rose elected, the Good Government forces are mourning, but there is a large element that is rejoicing that the "long hairs" have lost out. Mayor-elect Rose has issued a statement in which he says that he proposes to be Mayor for all the people, and not for any individual or clique, and to "give Los Angeles the clean, moral, economical, business, non-political administration to which it is entitled."

Although Rose had the support of no newspaper, his majority was about 9,000 out of 89,000 votes cast.

A Worker Appreciates This.
Wm. Morris, a resident of Florence, Oregon, says: "For the last fourteen years my kidneys and bladder incapacitated me for all work. About eight months ago I began using Foley Kidney Pills, and they have done what other medicines failed to do, and now I am doing and feeling fine. I heartily recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Foley Kidney Pills do not contain habit-forming drugs and are tonic in acting, quick in results. They will help any case of kidney trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. For sale by all dealers. Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst.

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

as mail matter of the second class.

An "alternative" is explained
nowadays as "another way just as bad."

Really, a merchant who finds he has winter gloves still on his hands
these days must be uncomfortable.

There's no need of leaving Kentucky for a change of climate. If you stay here long enough you'll get what you want, all in the same year—or month.

Yes, there is some difference between interstate and intrastate,
nowadays, mostly relating to the old
matter of what the Gov. of N. C.
said to the Gov. of S. C.

When the newspapers say "per capita," of course that means every man, woman and child of a specified area. And in this process what charges are often inflicted upon innocent ones!

A daily paper reporter, sending
the news from Georgetown that the "drys" had been defeated in a court decision, adds a line to his
"string" by saying "The city is jubilant over the news." We can hardly see why the city should be jubilant over the Reign of Rum.

Some newspapers and political opponents seem horrified at the act
of President Wilson walking right down from the rostrum out into the audience and having his say-so in Congress. But this act is in the interest of the people and they seem very well pleased with it.

A refrigerating plant has been established in the White House for the benefit of President Wilson. It is estimated that it will keep the temperature down 20 degrees from what it is outside the building. Now let the punters get busy telling
how they are making it too hot for the President.

It is said the best way to drown
a worm is to cripple it up badly beforehand. One way is to impale
it upon a circular hook before dropping it into the water, said
hook having a string attached to it
so as to lift out every now and then
to see if the worm is yet alive.
Splitting on the worm is not necessarily fatal.

It has just been discovered that although the U. S. Supreme Court has held that a State has the power
to regulate the business of solliciting persons to purchase intoxicating liquors by agents of foreign liquor dealers, as yet Kentucky has not legislated on this subject. This will probably be attended to at the next session of our Legislature.

It is a shame that the streets of Hartford are allowed to remain in such a dirty condition. The sidewalks in some places are also in wretched shape. For the past year
our little city has been frequented
by hundreds of strangers, and the town's untidy condition has been a matter of considerable comment.
Surely the town's financial stress is not so great that it cannot afford a few dollars' expense for the very important purpose of cleaning up.

The latest decision of the Court of Appeals has given a black eye to the fusion movement and also set a lesson of observance for those fellows who go along voting
a certain ticket for one or more years and then think they can run
as a candidate on another ticket the next year. Evidently the new primary election law was never invented for fusion movement. It is plainly to bring out the bona fide candidates of the different parties.

There are few agencies which can do a town or community more harm in the eyes of the reading public than the writings of some wild-eyed, sensational reporter for the daily press. Nearly all of these writers get paid by the column for their stuff, and they are anxious to make it lengthen out, adding lurid
particulars to make it appear important. These sensation mongers
should be ferreted out by interested citizens and advised to quit or leave town.

An order has gone out from postoffice headquarters to postmasters,
rescinding the rule for the back-
stamping of letters—that is, stamping on the backs of letters the dates
they are received at their destination. A few years ago this order was revoked but was restored upon
the petition of hundreds of business men throughout the country.
It is often a matter of much importance that the receiver of a letter
be able to prove by the back-stamp
date just when it came into his hands. The latest order, however,

relieves postmasters of much extra
work.

A recent opinion of the Kentucky Court of Appeals spent the carrying of liquor into prohibition territory has "queered" this question, more than ever, as it leaves
the legality of the act to the pre-sidence of the carrier in knowing whether or not it is to be used for illegal purposes. It is just a little strange that our learned Highest Court cannot define a law so plainly that a wayfaring man, though riding in a stage coach, cannot apprehend its meaning.

A movement has been started to observe the Sunday just preceding the Fourth of July of each year, as a Good Citizenship Day, aiming to impress upon the minds of the public the importance of advancing high ideals of citizenship throughout the country. It will also in a measure blaze the way for a more thoughtful observance of Independence Day. The event will take the form of public meetings in churches,
schools, etc. It is a worthy effort
and deserves all possible encouragement.

A SOLICITATION AND A VERY READY ANSWER

Hartford, Ky., R. F. D. No. 6, July 18, 1913.

Editors Hartford Herald:—
Knowing your liberality of mind
and generosity of views, economic and political, which are at variance with your own ideas, I take this method of soliciting you to give a small amount of space in your most excellent local paper to Socialism
and the news of our great labor movement as this movement is vi-talized and made militant by the Socialist party and its press.

The time has arrived for all men
and the press everywhere to treat
this movement with judicial fairness and intelligent consideration.
No longer will it suffice to dismiss
with a contemptuous sneer a worldwide working-class movement,
which affects all mankind.

There is now an urgent demand
by the great public for news and information regarding Socialism. I have heard Socialists say that they would subscribe for The Herald if it printed something about Socialism.

At first Socialism was ridiculed.
Soon, however, it was misrepresented.
Now, none but the most ignorant and prejudiced associate it with anarchy or infidelity, or consider it
a scheme to "divide up" the wealth
and property of the Nation, in order to "make all equal."

Socialism is indeed the quintes-
sence of democracy, in that it stands for Industrial Democracy as well as political democracy.
Shall we have the use of your columns now and then for a "lecture" on Socialistic stuff?

Yours respectfully,
W. H. CUNDIFF.

Editorial Note—The Herald is quite willing to print medium sized
articles or bunches of news items,
in behalf of the Socialist movement.
These articles, however, should not exceed 500 or 600 words in length,
in order to maintain our system of variety in reading and give room for other stuff. We always aim to be fair to all parties and people,
and at the same time give our readers their full due of assorted reading matter.

In regard to what Socialists have said about subscribing for The Herald, would say we have, in recent years, printed quite a number of articles of interest to and in behalf of Socialists, but we remember to have gotten only two or three subscribers on account of it.

They'll Still Be Running.

Hartford, Ky., June 24, 1913.
Editors Herald:—I see in the Hartford Republican of June 20, 1913, the following:

"Anyone who studies the printed
announcement of Governor McCreary
is bound to wonder what the Democrats of Kentucky are to do

Well, the Bull Moores have them to spare in Ohio county. They have them now "running," as usual.

MUCH DELAY CAUSED TO CONFEDERATE PENSIONS

On Account of the State Being Unable to Pay Checks
Forthcoming.

Frankfort, Ky., June 21.—A provision in the Confederate pension act that "the Auditor shall issue the warrants on the treasury for the respective sum and the treasurer forward treasury checks to the address of the pensioner" has given rise to a problem which the auditor, treasurer and pension agent
have yet to solve.

A total of 504 pension claims has been allowed, and 2,300 are ready to be passed upon by the Pension Board. If these claims are allowed before the August pension day, it is estimated that the State treasury will have to be prepared to meet a disbursement in August of $200,- 000.

It is the belief of the pension department that these claims will have to be paid in checks and not in State warrants. If this theory proves correct, the State not having
so much money in the treasury, it is possible that it may be necessary
to postpone all payments of pension claims until the Legislature
meets and makes a special levy for the purpose. It is estimated that a levy of two and one-half cents will take care of the annual pension
disbursement.

Fred Cooper Withdraws.

Owing to ill health and pressing
business matters that have completely taken up my time since announcing as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff
and the time now being so short
and my health yet impaired, I feel that it will be impossible for me to make such a canvass as I desire to make, hence I take this method of withdrawing from the race for the nomination for Sheriff. In so doing
I want to express my heartfelt
thanks to all those who have so generously proffered me their support. I pledge the Democratic nominee, whoever he may be, my hearty support in the final race. Again thanking each and every one of my numerous friends for their support
in this race, and hoping to be able
some time to reciprocate the favor,
I am
Yours truly,

SENT LAST MESSAGES AND DIED IN QUICKSAND

Terre Haute, Ind., June 21.—
With water and quicksand gradually covering him, William Dover,
of Shirksville, bade goodbye to each man who had vainly endeavored to rescue him and then strangled to death to-day.

Dover was digging a well and had reached a depth of 30 feet when he encountered quicksand. He called to his helper above, who summoned
three other men, but all attempts to pull the sinking man to safety
proved futile.

Finally the sand reached his neck, and, realizing there was no
hope, Dover told each farewell,
sent messages to his relatives and friends and then was swallowed up.

Will Norman, negro, captured after a twelve-hour search of the mountains about Hot Springs, was hanged to a telephone pole at the most prominent street corner of the business district of the city early tonight, within an hour of the death of his victim, the 14 year old daughter of former Circuit Judge
C. Floyd Huff. His body was riddled with bullets and later burned.

Several thousand persons witnessed
the lynching.

The child was attacked at the Huff home this morning during the absence of other members of the family. When she attempted to fight off her assailant, the negro clubbed her into insensibility, fracturing her skull, and forced her
into a closet where she was found
some time later by a younger brother.

Norman, who was employed at the Huff home, was captured shortly after daylight at a negro cabin
where he sought refuge after evading posses with bloodhounds during the day. He made no denial of his identity nor of the crime, but pleaded that the mob be prevented from burning him.

An effort was made to hurry him
to jail but before the prison was reached the news of his capture
had spread and the mob was quick in forming. He was taken from his captors on the jail steps and, despite the pleading of several city officials, hurried to the center of the most frequented thoroughfare and hanged.

OIL FIELD NEWS.

M. P. Colt & Co. are arranging
to put down a well on the Walter Allen farm, five miles northeast of Hartford.

The West Kentucky Oil Co. are preparing to put down a well on the Lucian Ambrose farm near Beda.
Casing and machinery is now being unloaded at Hartford for this well.

West Kentucky Oil Co. has all equipment on the grounds for a 35,000 gallon tank to be erected on the Joe Gierman hill to supply water for drilling purposes. The water will be pumped from Rough river through a 2½ inch pipe and then distributed to the various wells by means of pipes.

Drilling will be begun in a well
three miles northeast of Olaton
about July 1st.

Preparations are being made to drill an oil well on Mrs. Yeiser's farm, about a mile and a half north of town.

There are eight new wells in the course of drilling and preparing to begin drilling in the near future.
If nothing prevents, the Brant well
on the Brown farm will soon be brought in.

Judge Jno. B. Wilson has completed the map or blue print of the Rough river holdings in Ohio county. This is a very complete map and will no doubt be of very great benefit to all concerned. When it comes to making maps, Judge Wilson is certainly onto his job.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned committee for and on behalf of Ohio county, will on Tuesday, July 1, 1913, at the court

A QUARTER CENTURY OF EXPERT POULTRY EXPERIENCE

Pushing to manufacture and sell
a Poultry Remedy with real merit, we secured from Mr. D. M. Owen, of Ashland, Tenn., (who is one of the best poultry judges and breeders in the United States, and who has devoted over thirty years to this work,) the formula he is using and has found to be the most satisfactory of the many
he has tested as a cure and preventive for Cholera, Erysipelas, and other poultry diseases, and for keeping poultry in perfect health and condition, which insures the greatest possible growth and egg production.

Practically all poultry breeders know Mr. Owen as one of the best in the poultry world, and that there is no higher authority on this subject,
and that poultry owners are very fortunate in securing this remedy at the same price of the goods ordinarily sold, which experienced poultry
breeders and Pure Food Commissioners know to be almost, if not entirely worthless.

Our remedy is composed entirely of Rosin, Coprae, Sulphur and Charcoal, and is packed in 2½ lb.
cans; 10 lb. packages, $1.50; 25 lb.
cans, $3.50, mixed with double the amount of Blood Meal, Bone Flour, Charcoal and Ground Oyster Shells, all of which are highly recommended by Judge Owen, and other poultry breeders.

We are the only Poultry Remedy Manufacturers naming all ingredients and the proportion of each. We put nothing in our cure we are ashamed of.
If your dealer can't supply you, write us, giving his address. Our other goods quoted by dealers, or us, on request. Ask for folders and free pocket-book.

The Opinion of "One Who Knows"

After giving your Poultry Powders
and Insect Powders a thorough trial,
I am convinced you are making the best preparations on the market—
something that will do the poultrymen
as much good as anything they have ever had the pleasure of using. I know the ingredients of your powders, and that there is nothing better for the health and welfare of the poultry in this country. I also use your Medicated Salt Bricks, Pure Salt Bricks and Holders for my stock, and am highly pleased with them.

I wish you much success, and congratulate you on manufacturing here
in the South, something so valuable
to us.

LORING BROWN.
Remyra, Ga., Oct. 30, 1911.

What Another Poultryman Says

I take pleasure in saying that Owen's Ideal Poultry Remedy is of especial merit.

I have had very little results from the use of other Poultry Remedies and had about arrived at the conclusion that they were all worthless when I was induced to try yours.

I had thirty hens giving only three or four eggs per day. After using your remedy, my returns from the same hens were remarkable, running up to eighteen eggs per day within eight days.

I am satisfied you have a formula
that is scientifically constructed and will bring fine results.

Samuel Morton Dies Suddenly.
Mr. Samuel Morton, one of Ohio county's very best citizens, was found dead in bed last Saturday morning at his residence near Equality. Mr. Morton, who had been fishing Friday afternoon, ate supper and soon after retired as well as usual.

While he occupied the same bed as his wife, she did not know that anything was wrong until on rising Saturday morning about 4:30 o'clock she discovered that he was dead.

Mr. Morton was in his sixty-sixth year and was married to Miss Susan Smith forty-three years ago. To this union were born one daughter, Mrs. T. R. Barnard, Hartford, and three sons, Ross Morton, Central City; John Morton Kronos, and Vig Morton, at home, all of whom survive him. He likewise has two brothers, L. C. Morton, Centertown; Dick Morton, Texas and one sister, Mrs. Melle Smith, Muhlenberg county, who survive him.

Funeral and burial services were conducted by the Massons, of which order he had been a member for forty-five years. The remains were interred in the Centertown cemetery at 11 o'clock Sunday. The deceased had been a member of the Baptist church for many years.

It can truly be said that Ohio county has lost one of its best citizens. The bereaved family have the profoundest sympathy of everyone in this, their sad bereavement.

NOTES ON COMPANY II.
A portion of the Company did rifle practice at the range on June 14 and 21st and a majority of the men did excellent shooting. Private Malcolm Hoover, a new recruit, holds high score for this year's practice so far. He made 124 out of a possible 150.

A score of 98 qualifies a marksman and those who have already made that score or better are: Pvt. Ernest Hudson, 107; Sergt. W. D. Gray, 107; Sergt. Wm. C. Liles, 109; Pvt. David R. Whittinghill, 111; Pvt. Eugene Wedding, 120; Lieut. C. H. Shown, 121; Pvt. Marvin Hoover, 122; Pvt. Gross Schroeder, 122, and Pvt. Malcolm Hoover, 124.

Those who made 120 or better, will be entitled to go on a regimental range and fire over the "Expert Rifleman's" course. The rifle practice announced at last drill, for Saturday, June 28, will be postponed until Wednesday, July 24. On this date the team, which is to represent Company II at the "State Shoot," which is to be held at Lexington, beginning August 5, will be selected. Members who are desirous of becoming a member of the team must fire over the range on this date, as the team selected will be reported to the Adjutant General immediately after the day's firing.

After "Squad Drill" Saturday night, four new members were enlisted and this brings the membership above the minimum required by the War Department. The prospects are very bright for a Company of 60 men for the coming encampment.

It is very gratifying to the Company Commander to note the faithfulness of some of the members of the Company in attendance at drills and in working for the interest of it, yet it is rather displeasing to note the carelessness of some few who loaf on the streets, or straggle in when the arms are being replaced in the racks. "Promotions usually come to those who show their fitness for them."

The regular drill dates are fixed for each Saturday night until encampment.

A Pretty Wedding.
A pretty wedding indeed was that which occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Nance, on Mulberry street, Hartford, last Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, when Mr. A. M. Kinkead, of Cecilian, was united in marriage to Miss Eva Nance, of McHenry, this county. Rev. E. H. English, of Hartford, officiated with a very beautiful and impressive ceremony. Miss Lillian Tichenor rendered the wedding march on the piano. There were only a few relatives and friends present.

The bride and groom were very becomingly attired and presented a handsome appearance. Mr. Kinkead is a trusted employee of the I. C. railroad as fireman and is a worthy young man. His bride is one of Ohio county's prettiest and most winsome young ladies.

The happy couple left soon after the ceremony for Louisville and other points on a short bridal trip, after which they will be at home at Centred City. Those from out of town who came to witness the marriage were: Mrs. Laura Stith, of Cecilian; Mrs. Rebt. Nance and little daughter Nannie Lee, of Henderson, and Miss Lillian Tichenor, of McHenry.

A CRISIS FACED IN MOUNTAINS

Of West Virginia as Mine
Probe Adjourns.

BIG STRIKE IS TO BE CALLED
And Thousands of Miners Are
To Walk Out of the Coal Pits.

"MOTHER" JONES IS ATTACKED

Charleston, W. Va., June 19.—Federal inquiry into labor conditions in the Kanawha Valley, where for more than a year past guerrilla warfare has existed, resulting in arson, murder and maiming; where martial law has been declared three times, and where now the fight between capital and labor is as bitter as at any time during the strike, ended shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon, when an adjournment was taken by the subcommittee of the United States Senate Committee on Education and Labor, which has been conducting the investigation here since June 10.

This evening Senators Swanson, Martine and Kenyon left for Washington. Senators Borah and Shiel's having preceded them.

The investigation will be concluded at Washington. Many witnesses who were summoned here will appear before the committee later.

With the adjournment of the inquiry it is admitted that West Virginia faces probably the most serious labor situation in her history.

A general strike of the miners of the New River field, included in District No. 29, will be called next week. Such was the announcement made to-night by Thomas Haggerty, National Board member, who attended a meeting of the District and Sub-District Boards at Beckley to-day.

The number of miners affected will be between 5,000 and 15,000, depending upon what concessions may be granted by the operators within the next few days.

The miners, Haggerty declared, are restless, and probably would organize a walkout in case the strike should not be called by the District Board.

The New River operators are conferring among themselves, but have made no announcement.

The strike in the New River field is expected to result in a renewal of the strike on Cabin and Paint Creeks, where an attempt was made at meetings of the miners to call a strike last Monday. If the Paint and Cabin Creek miners follow the example of the New River miners the men on strike will total from 15,000 to 25,000.

In the closing hours of the investigation by the Senate committee the operators attempted to show the connection of "Mother Jones," aged labor leader, with the riotous conditions on Paint and Cabin Creeks. Testimony was adduced to show that Mrs. Jones told the miners to purchase guns and to refuse to give them up to the State authorities, and that she would lead them in their fights against the mine guards of Paint and Cabin Creeks.

The July Woman's Home Companion

As a part of its fight for "Better Babies" the Woman's Home Companion publishes in its July number an able editorial showing how the United States is spending $17,000,000 a year for better farms and only $30,000 a year for "Better Babies." The $17,000,000 item refers, of course, to the expenditures of the Department of Agriculture, and the $30,000 item has to do with the Children's Bureau in Washington which, with Miss Julia C. Lathrop in charge, is supposed to investigate and report on all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life in the United States.

On the subject of "Better Babies" there is published in addition to the editorial referred to above, an article entitled "Better Babies in the South" which contains an interesting report of some remarkable work done in Louisiana by Mrs. Frank De Garmo. Fiction of absorbing interest and reality is contributed by Mary Hastings Bradley, Mary Heaton Vorse, Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, Viola Burhans and Maude Radford Warren. Art features of special beauty and value are included, and the regular Cooking, Fashion, Household and Young Peoples' Departments are full of good things.

LASHED FORMER BEAU— HAD TALKED ABOUT HER

Marletts, Ga., June 20.—A sensation was created yesterday at New Home Baptist church in Cherokee county when Miss Helle Greer, the 15-year-old daughter of Rev. R. E. Greer, pastor of the church, laid the lash to Roy Owensby, a 19-year-old boy of the same community.

Owensby had been a recent beau of Miss Greer, and had made remarks about her, so she said, that were not complimentary but were calculated to injure her reputation. The young man was sitting in a buggy when Miss Greer began, but jumped out on the other side. She was ready for him when he did so, and rained a shower of blows upon him.

Before coming to the church Miss Greer had procured a hickory with the three-quarters of an inch in diameter and five to seven feet long. Her father stood by and told the young man to "stand and take the medicine." He did so till the wither was worn to a frazzle. When Miss Greer turned the butt end and began flogging him over the head other parties interfered and stopped the young woman.

In the afternoon at the same place a boy of twenty young girls brought flowers to Miss Greer as showing their approval of her course of defending her own good character. Owensby had recently moved into the community from Union county. Miss Greer's father has lived there for a number of years.

COMPLAINT AT THIEVES STEALING FRONT YARD

Chicago, Ill., June 20.—Claude V. Ridgely, a lawyer, residing in Gary, Ind., complained to the police the other day that enterprising thieves had stolen his front yard. This is in line with former feats by burglars in Gary, who stole sidewalks, hot stoves, children and even entire houses.

Ridgely paid $50 for a carload of black dirt to place on top of the sand in his yard so that he could have a lawn. The thieves took note of this fact, came with wagons while Mr. Ridgely and his family were in Chicago, scraped off all the black dirt and hauled it away.

Inasmuch as Ridgely cannot identify his dirt, he stands to buy a fresh supply and nail it down, or go without the desired lawn.

LIGHTNING RINGS BELL, SAVING SLEEPING MEN

Sandusky, O., June 20.—Lightning struck the dinner bell over the kitchen at the farm house of Thos. Morrow, near Milan, during a severe electrical storm early this morning.

The clang of the bell awakened Stanley Morrow, son of the owner of the premises, and Bert Scott, a farm hand, the only occupants of the dwelling.

The two men barely had time to escape from the house, from which flames shot forth in every direction within a few minutes after the lightning hit.

Scarcely clad, Morrow and Scott ran into the storm, seeking shelter in a barn. The house was destroyed.

TO OPERATE ON BRAIN TO STOP BOY'S GROWTH At Fifteen, He Is Six Feet Seven Inches Tall—Normal In Other Ways.

Philadelphia, June 20.—Surgeons at the Medico-Chirurgical Hospital are anticipating the successful outcome of an operation on a fifteen-year-old boy for gigantism. The youth, John Michael, is now six feet seven inches tall and the doctors have decided to remove a portion of the pituitary gland from the base of the boy's brain. This operation has never been performed before for such a reason. The pituitary gland is believed to control the mechanism of life that has to do with the growth of an individual and to stop the boy from outgrowing everybody and everything, they have decided to do what animal experiments have shown are successful when made on a dog.

The six surgeons of the University of Pennsylvania who are now under arrest on the charge of cruelty, performed such an operation and it is one of the cases involved in the charges against them.

Michael outgrew all the boys in school and finally refused to go to school, for all the children "joshed" him about his size. The smaller children feared him and when he got on the open trolley cars everybody tittered. He had to stoop when he went into any door and at home his father had to have an extra bed made for him. At the hospital, where he was undergoing the rest treatment, it was necessary to make a new cot for him and the bed clothes had to be cut in half and pieced so as to cover the youthful giant.

Mentally the boy is normal thus far. The surgeons say that if the operation is not performed he will become afflicted with a mental disease, for the overgrowth of the rest of the body will affect his mind.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE TO HALT NIGHT RIDING

Henderson, Ky., June 20.—Volunteers were armed and sent to the tobacco patches of Western Kentucky to-day to halt "night riding" after the organization of a Vigilance Committee, which numbers nearly 400 members here. The committee's leader is a man who is said to have been one of the Ku-Klux-Klan of post-bellum days. The armed volunteers will attempt to check interference with tobacco planting.

Organization of the committee resulted, from frequent recent clashes between warring tobacco interests—the planters and those who seek to restrict the tobacco acreage. One of the "night riders," it was announced to-day, has given a list of members in his locality to the vigilantes.

Editors of an evening paper, which has vigorously objected to methods of the "night riders," were issued to-day under armed guard, after a plot to wreck the newspaper's plant had been frustrated.

A 14-YEAR OLD BOY STARTS ON LIFE TERM

Aurora, Ill., June 20.—A boy in knee pants, who looked like the average run of boys twelve to thirteen years old, and wearing the embarrassed grin of the lad who has been called in from play "to speak his piece for company," stopped in Aurora on his way to the Joliet penitentiary, where just after 10 o'clock he began a life term for the recent murder of a woman and two babies.

The boy was Herman Coppes, fourteen years old, who last April shot and killed Mrs. Mamie Sleep at her farm home in East Plato, near Elgin, and branded her two children, a boy of two years and a girl of four. He is the youngest life prisoner who has ever entered the State prison.

Pastor Ryder was a very prosy speaker, and one Sunday morning when the services were over and the congregation was dispersing, Deacon Bosworth, who was a great admirer of the pastor, met a friend at the door, and said:
"A fine sermon this morning. So well-timed, too."
"Yes," replied the other man, "it was certainly well-timed. Nearly half the congregation had their watches out." (July Lippincott's.)

Why Mastic Paint?

BECAUSE

FIRST—It's pure—every atom of it—real paint manufactured from the finest raw material obtainable.

SECOND—It is made of pure white lead, re-inforced with zinc oxide in the correct proportion, and pure linseed oil. Will outwear, two to one, any straight lead or hand-mixed paint.

THIRD—Warranted to contain no adulteration. The formula appears on every can. Guaranteed to give satisfaction.

FOURTH—Being full-bodied and machine ground, less MASTIC is required to paint a given surface than any other kind of paint or lead and oil. A SAVING OF MANY DOLLARS TO THE OWNER OF THE BUILDING.

FIFTH—In time to come, when painting is again desirable, a surface previously coated with MASTIC remains in perfect condition for repainting.

Specify MASTIC PAINT for your home and secure a beautiful hard, enamel-like finish that will resist best the smoke and gases of the city, the hot sun and severe weather exposure. MASTIC Outside Gloss White is the very whitest house paint made. MASTIC Paint does not discolor and go flat like keg lead in oil, nor peel and crack like the cheap ready mixed paint.

"THE KIND THAT LASTS"

OLD-TIME ICE CREAM.

A scant teacupful of flour to two quarts of new milk; put three pints over the fire in a double boiler, mix the flour with the other pint until perfectly smooth, then, when the milk is boiling, add and stir in the flour; let it boil for fifteen minutes, and just before taking it from the fire, stir into the mixture one and one-half pounds of pulverized sugar; any good white sugar will answer. Stir all the time after putting in the sugar, letting it remain over the fire only long enough to dissolve the sugar, then take from the fire and strain at once through a coarse towel. When cold, add a quart of good cream, beating it in well; flavor with vanilla—one and a fourth tablespoonsful of the extract to a gallon. When perfectly cold, freeze. This is a very inexpensive cream, and is very good indeed.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR KENTUCKY HEROES

Monroe, Mich., June 19.—Anniversary ceremonies for heroes of the war of 1812 took place in this city to-day when thousands of visitors, together with representatives from Kentucky, gathered to do honor to the memory of 1,000 Kentucky soldiers who left their homes and marched North in the middle of winter to the relief of Frenchtown and Detroit.

They were captured by the English through the treachery of a settler and then allowed by their captors to be butchered by Indians.

The services were held over the graves of the Kentucky heroes in Memorial Place. The principal speakers were Lieutenant Governor McDermott, of Kentucky, and Governor Ferris, of Michigan.

SPANKED THE YOUNGSTER AND STARTED BIG FIRE

Monticello, N. Y., June 20.—Mrs. H. Wolfe, of Ferndale, Sullivan county, near here, tried to spank her young son to-day, and in so doing upset an oil stove.

In the fire that followed twelve business houses and three dwellings, including the Wolfe house, were destroyed. The loss will reach $100,000.

The buildings were all wooden and the flames spread so rapidly that nearly all of the business section was wiped out.

Firemen from three towns finally checked the flames with dynamite.

A MOVEMENT FOR CHRISTIAN UNITY

Embracing the Christian Communion

THROUGHOUT ALL THE WORLD

Inviting Them To Unite For One Especial Cause
and Purpose.

WILL SEEK SPIRITUAL POWER

The Protestant Episcopal Church in October, 1910, appointed a Commission to bring about a Conference for the consideration of questions as to the faith and order of the Christian Church, in the hope that such a Conference will promote the cause of Christian Unity. This Commission is inviting all Christian Communion throughout the world which confess our Lord Jesus Christ as God and Saviour to unite with the Episcopal Church in arranging for and conducting such a Conference. More than twenty such co-operating Commissions have been appointed, including all the leading Communion in the United States and the Church of England in England and Canada. Invitations are now being sent to the other leading Communion outside the United States as fast as the names and addresses of their officers can be obtained. The Episcopal Commission is publishing leaflets, explaining the scope and methods of the Conference, and giving a list of books on Christian Unity, and those leaflets have been circulated all over the world. The Commission is glad to send them free to any one who will apply for them to the Secretary, Robert H. Gardiner, Gardiner, Maine. He has received probably ten thousand, or more, letters on the subject, coming from every part of the world and from members of every Communion. Protestant and Catholic Persons applying are entered on a permanent mailing list, so that they will receive all future publications. The Episcopal Commission is trying to carry on the undertaking in the spirit of Bishop Brent, who urged, at the meeting when the Commission was organized, that the side of organization shall not be made too prominent, but that we shall seek spiritual power. The first step shall be, in a new and full and deep way, to re-dedicate ourselves to God, free from past prejudices, in order that, so losing ourselves, we may have a spiritual power simply compelling.

Ministers and laymen and women in Kentucky to the number of 131 have already been brought together, at least to the extent of enrollment on the list, which is arranged geographically so that those who are interested enough in Christian Unity to apply to be placed on the list may obtain the names of others in their neighborhood also interested, with whom they can meet for united prayer for the reunion of Christians and for conference as to how it can best be brought about. The list includes Disciples of Christ, Baptists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians, German Evangelical Synod of N. A. and Roman Catholics. The Executive Committee of

The Proof is Here the Same As Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here, in Hartford, the same as everywhere. Hartford people have used Doan's and Hartford people recommend Doan's, the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. There's Hartford proof. Investigate it.

S. L. King, proprietor hardware store, Hartford, Ky., says: "I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a good remedy for kidney complaint, as they have benefited me whenever I have used them. I had pains across my back and finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They certainly helped me. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly to anyone in need of a medicine for disordered kidneys."

the Commission of the Episcopal Church, of which the Rev. W. T. Manning, D. D., Rector of Trinity Church, New York, is Chairman, has recently issued a circular letter urging such local conferences. The World Conference may not be held for a number of years, for it will be a long undertaking to get the approval of all the leading Communion all over the world, though the project is being received with great cordiality. Lippincott's is Strongly Patriotic. The July Lippincott's (on sale June 21) has a strong patriotic flavor. The leading special article is "When History Repeats," by Colonel Willard French. It is an appeal for sanity and deliberation in efforts to change our Constitution, and points out the possible dangers which lie in the adoption of the initiative, the referendum, and the recall. Elizabeth Maury Coombs contributes a charming tale of an old Confederate veteran, entitled "Not in Action, Sub." "Tween Night an' Mornin'" is a story of the American Revolution, by Gertrude S. Mathews and John L. Mathews. "Celebration," by Helen Coale Crew, is a clever Fourth of July paper. "Gettysburg," by H. Percival Allen, is a timely poem of unusual merit.

The complete novel is "Monte Carlo and Julia," by Margaret Stacpoole. Mrs. Stacpoole is the wife of the British novelist H. de Vere Stacpoole, whose books have won him a wide following in this country.

Fiction not already mentioned is "A Little While," a tale of the supernatural, by Emily Newell Blair; "Grace and Disgrace," a new Chaucer and Ellen story, by Augusta Kortrecht (author of "A Dixie Rose in Bloom"); "The Business of the Polley," a theatrical yarn, by Stanley Olmsted; and "All Alone," a funny seaside sketch, by Ellis O. Jones. The Short-Story Masterpiece is "The Tree and the Wedding," by the most talked-of Russian author of the day—Feodor Mikhailovich Dostoyevsky. There is an Introduction by the Editor.

No Substitute Could Do This. No inferior substitute, but only the genuine Foley Kidney Pills could have rid J. F. Wallace, Bartlett, Neb., of his kidney trouble. He says: "I was bothered with backache, and the pain would run up to the back of my head, and I had spells of dizziness. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they did the work and I am now entirely rid of kidney trouble. My father-in-law, now past 93 years, has taken them and they have added years to his life." REVERTS TO STONE AGE TO DISPROVE MEN SLAVES

Boston, Mass., June 20.—Joseph Knowles, a Boston artist, is going into the woods of northern Maine and New Brunswick on July 1 to prove to the world that the people of the twentieth century need not necessarily live the artificial life and be slaves to a civilized convention. He will go into the wilderness without clothing, food, matches, firearms or ammunition.

Knowles promises to stay there until October 1, live on fish, game, berries and wild vegetables and come back fully clothed. He will live for three months fifty or sixty miles from any settlement, and in that time he will not accept any help whatever from the outside world.

The artist will make his own fire by friction, will build a log cabin from material he finds in the woods and will trap his own game.

A Girl's Essay on Boys.

Boys are men that have not got as big as their papas, and girls are women that will be ladies by-and-by. Man was made before woman. When God looked at Adam He said to Himself: "Well, I think I can do better if I try again." And He made Eve so much better than Adam that there have been more women than men.

Boys are a trouble. They wear out everything but soap. If I had my way half the world would be girls and the rest dolls. My papa is so nice that I think he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy.

Man was made, and on the seventh day He rested. Woman was then made, and she has never rested since.

WHAT TEACHERS OF STATE HOLD

In Principles and Aims Of Their Work.

SET FORTH IN DECLARATION

Unanimously Passed By Kentucky Educational Association of 1913.

OF INTEREST TO THE PUBLIC

The following constitutes a part of the Declaration of Principles and Aims unanimously passed by the Kentucky Educational Association of 1913 in session at Louisville last month:

A Great Commonwealth—A great State must have vision, purpose and unity of effort. It must have moral, intellectual and industrial ideals and work to accomplish them. It must be affirmative and fearless. These qualities depend upon the people composing the State.

The School System—The first duty of the State and its first necessity is to provide for training which will guarantee the intelligence and promote the integrity of its citizens. This must be accomplished through a harmonized and articulated school system under governmental direction, supported by district, county and State taxation. Our system of schools must include elementary schools, secondary schools, Normal schools, and the State University.

A Great Commonwealth Must Be Achieved—Behind every great human achievement is a great human being; behind every great State are great men. A great Commonwealth can not be bestowed; it must be achieved through education. The school is a fundamental necessity to social and industrial efficiency. It will take full-grown Kentuckians to make a full-grown Kentucky, and it will take a full-grown system of schools exploited to the highest degree of efficiency to make full-grown Kentuckians.

Human and Material Waste—Every idler, every unskilled laborer, farmer, housekeeper, every unqualified preacher, teacher, doctor, lawyer, and every other incompetent workman in every other human endeavor, reminds us most forcefully of lost opportunity and of spiritual and material waste. Most of our troubles are fundamental; they begin in the individual. Therefore, a lofty, sane and democratic effort in the interest of universal development fundamentally concerns the training of every child in the land for a patriotic and efficient service. The responsibility of training the child falls heavily, too heavily, upon the school. America's inherent and universal worker for life and for freedom. Childhood shows us the way to a greater Commonwealth.

The Teacher—The State that has the men has the present. The State that has the school has the future, and the State that has the teachers has the schools. Influence is largely inherent in personality. Behind the great school lies the constructive personality of a great teacher. The school is largely in the spirit of the teacher. In its last analysis, the teacher is the school. The qualified teacher marches at the head of educational progress. Even a five, progressive course of study will die in the hands of a dead teacher and will bring disappointment to the people and create the reactionary spirit in the school community. Vocational training and all other good things that are a natural part of the organic life of the school will languish and die unless vitalized by leadership. It is dangerous for educational reform to reach the school ahead of a trained and reformed teacher. Without engineers, our attempt to build the Panama Canal would have failed; without teachers, we shall never accomplish our educational ideals. We must not attempt to dig a Panama Canal without a Goethals, to establish wireless telegraphy without a Marconi, to win a victory at Valley Forge without a Washington, to write a Declaration of Independence without a Jefferson, to write a drama without a Shakespeare, to teach without a teacher, and to accomplish life without life. It is a progressive statesmanship that realizes that whatever is desired in the life of the State must be developed in the life of those teachers who train the children of the State. We reaffirm our devotion to the efforts of the State to train teachers for service in our Commonwealth.

Endorsements—The Kentucky Educational Association endorses

the following and pledges its support:

To the State-wide movement to improve the rural schools.

To the consolidation of all district schools wherever practicable.

To rural school supervision.

To an extension, as soon as practicable, of the common school term.

To the effort to have better trained and better paid teachers.

To a more efficient truancy law, with the necessary machinery for its enforcement, and such provisions for children from indigent homes that no excuse can be offered for not being in school.

To the absolute divorcement of the schools from politics.

To the teaching of Agriculture and home-making in the schools.

To a better system of roads in every community in the Commonwealth.

To the movement to revise the present system of taxation.

Respectfully submitted,

Committee on Declarations and Aims:

H. H. Cherry, Chairman, McMurry Roads, E. O. Holland, T. J. Coates, Barksdale Hamlett, J. H. Risley, N. C. Hammack.

FAMILY WAS STARVING —DOG KILLED FOR FOOD

Chicago, Ill., June 19. John Maroch, his family starving, killed his employer's pet setter dog for food. Maroch was temporarily employed about the barn on the country place of Julius Marshokoska, a sausage maker.

A valuable Gordon setter disappeared. Marshokoska and a humane society officer found the dog's carcass in a tub dressed and ready to be used for food. Maroch at first asserted that the carcass was that of a sheep, but finally confessed that he had killed the dog for food, being unable to buy meat for his family.

A good coat of whitewash was administered to the Hefflins by our bunch of sluggers last Wednesday afternoon at East End Park, much to the delight of the fans. It was the first shut-out game of the season, and was a classy exhibition from start to finish. The work done by the locals was of big league caliber and the visitors were not such slouches when it comes to the art of juggling a ball, but, much to the disappointment of the many prophets among them, they found that they will have to put in considerable more practice before they will be able to hold their own in such fast company.

The game was rather remarkable in that all the scoring was done in one inning. Until the fifth inning, with few exceptions, the outs followed each other with monotonous regularity. After that crucial period there was the same story to tell. But while the fun lasted it certainly was great.

Fifth inning, Hedlin at bat, Atherton struck out; Porter was tossed out by "Rik" at first; F. Bell hit to shortstop who fumbled, and threw wild to first and runner took second; Welch out, Rickard to Hunter.

Hartford at bat, Robertson hit over 2d to center-field and was safe at 1st; Green poled out a beauty that was too hot for B. Taylor who threw wild to 1st, allowing Green to reach 2d and Robertson 3d; Taylor got a pretty single to short, scoring Robertson; "Rik" died to Welch who muffed after a hard run and threw wild to 3d, but the latter recovered and put Green out at home, leaving runners safe at 2d and 3d; Garrett pounded the pill to right and, when King muffed, reached first in safety; Hunter then helped himself to a classy two-bagger between center and right, scoring Taylor and Rickard; Thorpe hit one too hot for the visitors' third-sacker and was safe at 1st. "Pup" Thomas counted a nifty one over short and was safe at 1st, while Garrett dotted across the home plate; with the bases full, "Satan" Hosenblatt slammed the ball through short, reached 1st safely and in the meantime "Mutt" Hunter and Thorpe eased into counting territory; Robertson knocked an easy one to Welch who tagged the runner to 2d but "Baker" was safe at 1st and in a jiffy, with Green at bat, stole 2d; "Shurty" poled to Atherton and was out at 1st.

Saturday afternoon at East End Park, Ray Addington, ably assisted by Brother Bill, again staged a performance of his Kronosite Sin Twisters in connection with our own Oil Magazines. The good-sized crowd was treated to a fairly good, but rather stormy exhibition of ball playing. Rickard did the slugging and Thorpe the backstopping for Hartford; Withrow and Ray Addington performed similar duties for Equality. R. T. Collins and

Wm. Addington, Jr., were the official "bosses."

The game was unfortunately marred by several heated discussions in the eighth and ninth innings over decisions of Empire Addington. Up to the eighth session the score was 2 to 0 in favor of the visitors, but in Hartford's half of that frame, Estlin Barnett, who had been put in to run for Hunter, succeeded in getting across the home plate on an infield single by Thorpe. In the visitors' half of the ninth they added another counter and when our boys came to the bat for the last time, everything and everybody was at fever heat.

Green started things off by taking a walk and then stole 2d; Taylor faced out a pretty single to left field and Green took third; "Rik" hit a hot one to second and Green scored, but Taylor was run down between second and third. Allison Barnett slammed a beauty to the fence in extreme right, near the foul line, for two bases and took 3d on the throw-in, while Rickard was scoring.

Empire Addington, who at this period of the game was only looking after the base-running, took it upon himself to call Barnett's swat a foul. This started an argument which resulted in Equality's refusal to finish the game if Addington's contention was not sustained, and so Empire-in-Chief Collins was forced to announce the game as forfeited to Hartford, 9 to 0.

It is to be regretted that such a good game had to end in this fashion, but it is highly probable that, with only one man down and a runner on third, Hartford would have run in the deciding score before the close of the inning, and thus the same result would have been reached in a different manner.

There is an extra pension of seven dollars a month for each additional child under fourteen years of age.

ALL POOLED TOBACCO IN HOPKINS AND CALDWELL

Counties Sold—About 3,000,000 Pounds—The Price Averages Six Cents.

The Madisonville Hustler of Friday says:

The Farmers' Unions of Hopkins and Caldwell counties have at last concluded a deal by which a sale of the pooled tobacco in these two counties has been made. The purchasers are the John Hodge Tobacco Company. The deal was concluded Tuesday of this week. It is understood that the price paid will average 6 cents around, and the amount of the pools will be in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 pounds. The most of this tobacco is in Western Hopkins and Eastern Caldwell. Deliveries will be made at Madisonville, Dawson and Princeton.

This deal has been in progress for the past month, and has been handled by a committee of eighteen members from each county union. From Hopkins county B. F. Ligon, Dawson, was chairman; from Caldwell, D. D. Cantrell.

It is also understood that the Christian county Farmers Union pool was also included in this sale, but this was a small amount, being in the aggregate not more than 100,000 pounds.

The sale of this tobacco will be a great stimulus to business just now. It means that about $90,000 will be turned loose in Hopkins county, and coming at the beginning of the dull summer season will be doubly welcome as a stimulus to business.

Norton, New Bedford, Mass., says: "I had a terrible pain across my back, with a burning and scalding feeling. I took Foley Kidney Pills as advised, with results certain and sure. The pain and burning feeling left me, I felt toned up and invigorated. I am glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." They are tonic in action, quick in results. For sale by all dealers.
